The Intergenerational Volunteer Program

Join over 150 volunteers, ages 55 and up, working with Minneapolis Public Schools students in a variety of capacities. Based on your interests and the needs of the class, you might:

- Read with students
- Provide opportunities for enriched mathematics
- Share your life story or a special talent
- Help with a science project
- Go on field trips

Your presence in the classroom offers these benefits to students:

- Improved academic performance
- Enhanced social skills
- Volunteers provide good role models
- Better understanding between generations

You benefit too, by:

- Continuing to learn
- Meeting new friends
- Staying healthy
- Contributing to the community
- Working close to home, with flexible hours

What volunteers in our program are saying:

“The kids are so much fun!”

“Volunteering keeps me younger!”

“It’s great to know you are important in someone else’s life!”

“Life is so much more interesting if you’re involved!”

Other benefits:

Intergenerational volunteers receive ongoing training, a twice yearly newsletter and opportunities to meet other volunteers.
